

The Rogator AG

Combined Competence

Software & Full-Service in Customer Feedback and Employee Feedback

The Rogator AG is your specialist for online customer and employee feedback. Through the unique combination of the powerful Rogator software, a full-service portfolio and well-founded methodological knowledge gained over 20 years of online research, Rogator stands for „Combined Competence“.

Benefit from our wide range of high-performance and agile software products for customer and employee surveys, marketing and product research as well as NPS® surveys and panel studies.

Our software provides you with optimum support in all process steps and issues relating to online research.

In addition to our tested and proven standard software products, we offer innovative individual solutions and integration with our customers' own systems.

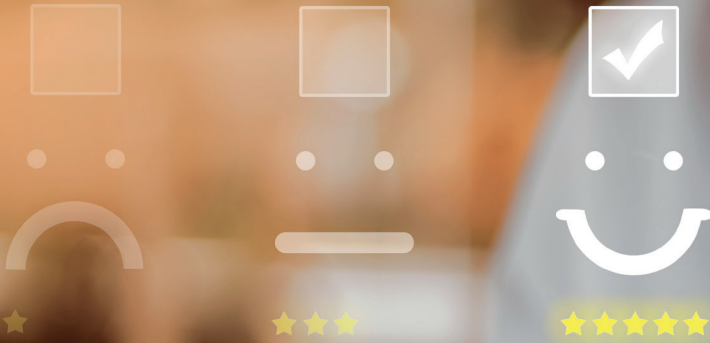

In addition to agile software solutions as well as content and methodological consulting, Rogator also offers you full service as an institute: from conception and implementation to data evaluation and the derivation of recommendations for action, we support you in your online feedback project.

We always meet the high demands of our customers for individuality and flexibility in project handling. It is up to you as the customer to decide which services we can best support you with.

True to the philosophy „more than you ask for“, Rogator always thinks one step ahead. Maximum customer orientation is our top priority. Experience innovative and tailor-made solutions with a satisfaction guarantee for your survey project.
